WOMAN.

CEMALES, OWING TO THE PECULIAR and important relations which they sustain, heir peculiar organization, and the offices they erform, are subject to sufferings and ailments eculiar to the sex. Freedom from these con-ibutes in no small degree to their happiness and velfare, for none can be happy who are ill. Not nly so, but no one of these various female comaints can long be suffered to run on without inolving the general health of the individual, and re long producing permanent sickness and pre-iature decline. Nor is it pleasant to consult a hysician for the relief of these various delicate fections, and only upon the most urgent neces-ty will a true woman so far sacrifice her greatest arm as to do this. The sex will then thank us ir placing in their hands simple specifies which ill be found efficacious in relieving and curing most every one of those troublesome complaint

ELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU Hundreds suffer on in silence, and hundreds of thers apply vainly to druggists and doctors, who ther merely tantalize them with the hope of a are or apply remedies which make them worse. would not wish to assert anything that would o injustice to the afflicted, but I am obliged to ay that although it may be produced from exces-ive exhaustion of the powers of life, by labori-us employment, unwholesome air and food, prouse menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and equent childbirth, it is oftener caused by direct ritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the gina itself.

When reviewing the causes of these distressing omplaints, it is most painful to contemplate the tendant evils consequent upon them. It is but mple justice to the subject to enumerate a few the many additional causes which so largely af-et the life, health and happiness of woman in all lasses of society, and which, consequently, af-et, moreor less directly, the welfare of the entire uman family. The mania that exists for preco-ious education and marriage, causes the years at pature, designed for corporal development at nature designed for corporal developement be wasted and perverted in the restraints of ress, the early confinement of sehool, and espe-ally in the unhealthy excitement of the ballom. Thus, with the body half clothed and the ind unduly excited by pleasure, perverting in idnight revel the hours designed by nature for eep and rest, the work of destruction is halfacuplished.

In consequence of this early strain upon her stem, unnecessary effort is required by the deli-de votary to retain her situation in school at a ter day, thus aggavating the evil. When one ceitsment is over, another in prospective keeps te mind morbidly sensitive to impression, while the now constant restraint of fashionable dress, isolately forbidding the exercise indispensable the attainment and retention of organic heilth ad strength; the exposure to night air, the sud-en change of temperature, the complete prostraon produced by excessive dancing must, of the sity, produce their legitimate effect, At last i early marriage caps the climax of misery, and ie unfortunate one, hitherto so utterly regicdss of the plain dictates and remonstrances of ler elicate nature, becomes an unwilling subject of edical treatment. This is but a truthful picare of the experience of thousands of our young Long before the ability to exercise the functions
